The chapter begins with the Logan children—Cassie, Stacey, Christopher-John, and Little Man—returning to school after the Christmas break. However, instead of a fresh start, they encounter hostility and discrimination that underscore the racial tensions of the era. One of the most memorable moments in this chapter is the confrontation between Cassie and Lillian Jean Simms, a white girl who embodies the racist attitudes prevalent in the community. The white children's taunts and physical intimidation toward the Logan children reveal how deeply ingrained prejudice is in this community. Cassie's refusal to accept Lillian Jean's condescending behavior leads to a tense and risky encounter, highlighting her growing awareness of racial injustice and her determination to stand up for herself. This chapter also provides insight into the protective instincts of the Logan family.
